

Apology Letter for Bad Driving

[Your Name]

Date:

Dear [Name],

I had no other means of contacting you so writing an apology letter seems to be the best one so far. The other day, we both were driving near the bridge, you were in your [model-optional] red car and I was driving my very old [model-optional] white car. I was rushing to pick up my granddaughter from school. I was late, as my meeting got delayed. My little granddaughter gets panic if she doesn't see any one picking her up immediately after the school ends.

Near the road turn, I cut you off and seconds later I realized that I had done something that could have put both of us in extreme danger. I am glad of your driving skills that you managed to slow down and maintain your balance.

Driving safe has always been my priority and so is the safety of my fellow drivers. I am a very calm and safe driver. But sometimes we all have our times to rush. Later, I was pondering over my driving skills and I will make sure to drive slow and avoid any hazardous situation rather than driving fast and putting every one's life into risk.

Please accept my apologies and my negligent behavior on the road.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
