Dear [Recipient's name]

I was happy to have you as my tenant since you seemed an educated and decent person. I was sure that I will not have to face any unpleasant experiences with you but my expectations are shattered. I hope you remember that as per the agreement, you are not allowed to organize public events at the house. I can understand that due to your political affiliation, you have a wide public following and have to organize such events but I am sorry I cannot and I never allowed you to organize such events at my house. This causes problems for other people in the community. Many people have complained me that they have to face issues like parking, noise pollution and other such due to the gatherings at your house. If you have to organize such parties and events, kindly organize them at some nearby hotels and not my house. You already know this clause is included in the contract so I am uncertain why you are continuously breaching it. Since you're a sensible person, I hope I will not have to remind you again what our contract agreement says. Thank you!

Sincerely,
