Dear [Recipients Name],

I received the news of your accident. It was such breathtaking to hear that you got serious injuries and remained in the intensive care unit for a whole week. I thank God that He saved you. There was an extreme restlessness since the time I heard about your accident and now I desperately want to meet you but as you know my job allows me only a few work leaves in a year. I have already taken them and because the schedules are also very tough these days, rare is the chance that i will get another leave now. Accept my apologies that I am not there with you in this time of need. I hope that you understand since you are my best friend.

I am sending you this humble gift with my letter and I want you to open it yourself. Please accept my heartiest sympathies for what you've suffered and I am once again thankful to God to make me fortunate enough to have you as a friend. I will visit you as soon as my leave is approved. Till then, take care of yourself.

Sincerely,

[You're Name]
